The New Parklane Hinge

In the past year, our engineering and design team have been working to improve the function and style of the Parklane Hinge. There have been many exciting changes to the Parklane Hinge, including internalizing the hinge, changing the adjustability, and adding color options. We hope you will find it to have better functionality and be better looking.

The most noticeable change is the now internalized hinge, much like the CrystalLine Hinge. This design has better function, is stronger and because the hinge is hidden, provides a sleeker, cleaner look. This design has been in use for 20 years and has proven durability.

The way the Parklane Hinge is adjusted has also been changed. We have removed the old adjustable expanders, simplified production, and redesigned it to function much like the CrystalLine Hinge. The doors have been sized so that adjustments are from -0 to +1 1/2". Having up to 3/4" out of square adjustment on each wall, this new hinge will work better in fiberglass stalls, which are notorious for being out of square. This increased adjustment also allows you to ensure an even reveal under the door.

With the new design, we saw a need to offer more colors in single door applications. The Parklane Hinge will now be available stock in Silver, Brushed Nickel and Oil-Rubbed Bronze, or can be ordered in specialty colors. The door heights will include, 64 13/16, 68 13/16 and 72 13/16, and widths will range from 23 up to 32. The Parklane Hinge will continue be in available as KD and glazed stock with Clear, Aquatex, Pattern 62 or with custom specialty glass.

In May, we will roll out the new Parklane Hinge, a new price list and specifications will be made available. While changes have been made, we have worked to keep prices in line with the previous design. If you would like to learn more about this exciting change, please contact your sales representative.
